

DAY OF TRES

7 June 1991

The scarlet banksia (Banksia coccinia) is one of many trees and other plant species in Western Australia that is threatened by the plant disease known as dieback. There is no known cure for this plant disease which is caused by a soil borne fungus. Until a cure can be found, the best strategy is preventing the artificial spread of the fungus

Scarlet banksia with honey possum

Department of Conservation and Land Management, Western Australia

Fight dieback...Give our trees a chance by people and their vehicles.