Dear Ms De Soyza

EXTINGUISHMENT OF NATIVE TITLE ON CALM MANAGED LANDS – WARD HIGH COURT DECISION

I refer to your request of 24 September 2002 for a list of all conservation areas in the State and the provisions under which the areas have been reserved. I had earlier copied to you a 10 September circular to the Department's senior staff on certain and uncertain extinguishments as a consequence of the Ward High Court decision. This advice was amended slightly in a 18 September memo to Mr Jeff O'Halloran of the Crown Solicitor's Office which Jeff copied to you. My interim advice to you of 16 October summarised these written exchanges.

Attachments 1 and 2 list nature reserves and national parks vested in the then Western Australian Wildlife Authority and the then National Parks Authority respectively. The reserves were vested under section 33 of the Land Act 1933. An example of vesting notices in the Government Gazette is attachment 3. It is likely any native title rights and interest on these nature reserves and national parks have been extinguished as a result of the Ward High Court decision.

The commencement of the Conservation and Land Management Act 1984 (CALM Act) on 22 March 1985 abolished the Wildlife Authority and the National Parks Authority and created two controlling bodies with powers to have lands vested in them. The National Parks and Nature Conservation Authority (NPNCA) had vested in it nature reserves vested in the Wildlife Authority, national parks vested in the National Parks Authority and miscellaneous reserves vested in either repealed bodies which were deemed to be CALM Act section 5(1)(g) reserves.

In the period 22 March 1985 to 31 December 1993, new national parks, nature reserves and conservation parks (after the land category was added by CALM Amendment Act 1991) were reserved under the Land Act 1933 but were automatically vested in the NPNCA by section 7 of the CALM Act. These reserves vested under the CALM Act between 22 March 1985 and 31 December 1993 (prior to the commencement of the Native Title Act 1993) are listed in attachment 4. An example of a Government Gazette reference to the automatic vesting under the CALM Act for the Shannon, Mt Frankland and D'Entrecasteaux National Parks is attachment 5. A Government Gazette example where the creation of the new Bungle Bungle National Park (now Purnululu) did not include reference to the automatic vesting provisions of the CALM Act is attachment 6.

The March 1985 to December 1993 automatic vestings under the CALM Act include the "capture" of unvested reserves deemed to be a nature reserve under the Wildlife Conservation Act 1950 prior to the commencement of the CALM Act. As unvested "Conservation of Flora and/or Fauna" reserves they were not deemed to be nature reserves on the commencement of the CALM Act. The CALM

Amendment Act 1991 vested these “lost reserves” in the NPNCA and they became CALM Act nature reserves.

Attachment 7 lists the CALM Act section 5(1)(g) reserves created under the Land Act 1933 and vested under the Land Act 1933 in the NPNCA or the Lands and Forest Commission. The Commission is the other controlling/vesting body established by the CALM Act which predominantly held State forest and timber reserves. Attachment 8 is an example of a Government Gazette notice referring to the vesting under the Land Act 1933 of a reserve in the NPNCA, being the section 5(1)(g) reserve adjacent to the Bungle Bungle (Purnululu) National Park.

Miscellaneous reserves which were neither national parks nor nature reserves and were vested in the Wildlife Authority or the National Parks Authority came to the NPNCA as section 5(1)(g) reserves e.g. Matilda Bay Reserve. They were not shown in attachment 7 and will require a significant effort to list them. They are very few and small in area.

Attachment 9 lists the marine parks and the marine nature reserve created under the CALM Act (then section 13) and automatically vested under the Act in the NPNCA (now the Marine Parks and Reserves Authority).

Attachments 10 and 11 list the State forests and timber reserves created (“gazetted”) under the Forests Act 1918 prior to the commencement of the CALM Act on 22 March 1985. These forests and timber reserves were vested in the Lands and Forest Commission by section 7 of the CALM Act on the commencement of the Act in March 1985.

Attachment 12 shows the two timber reserves created under section 10 of the CALM Act and vested in the Lands and Forest Commission under section 7 of the Act.

The tables for reserves vested after the commencement of the CALM Act are only a guide to extinguishment as the tables do not show any history as a previously vested reserve or as freehold.

I have greatly appreciated the efforts of Mr Graham Hoare and Mr John Dunne of the Department’s Geographic Information Services section in generating these reserve details.

No new State forest (with a new forest number) has been created under the CALM Act but areas have been added to existing numbered State forests e.g. 2,500 ha added to State forest 24 near Darkan, February 1998.

Assessment of whether the vesting of reserves and forests under the CALM Act has extinguished native title will presumably be considered in depth by your Office and the Crown Solicitor’s Office. With respect to the rights and privileges which flow from vesting which may be deemed to have extinguished native title, I believe such rights have been substantial in the case of State forests and timber reserves. The forests and timber reserves in the south west are almost entirely covered by apiary site permits and many forest leases (grazing, recreation, clubs, dams, horticulture) have been issued. Timber harvesting licenses have been issued over a significant proportion of the area of the south west State forests and forest produce licenses and flora harvesting licenses have also been directed to specified forest areas. The rights and privileges issued to third parties over State forest is far greater than for example nature reserves. The permits, licences and leases issued over State forests may need to be further discussed.

I have not attempted to provide details of reserves vested after 1 January 1994. I presume extinguishment has not happened over the reserves created after the commencement of the Native Title Act 1933. Similarly no reference is made to the Land Administration Act 1997 which commenced on 30 March 1997.

December 18, 2002

For your consideration and advice, please. I will also forward the tables electronically to yourself and Mr Halloran.

Yours sincerely

for Keiran McNamara
A/EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
