

THE WHO OF FORESTRY MAPPING – FORESTS DEPARTMENT OF WESTERN AUSTRALIA AND BEYOND

ABSTRACT

An organization is comprised of many people contributing to that organization over its lifetime, this publication attempts to document the names of those people who have contributed to the operations of forestry mapping and associated information services since the Forests Department, Western Australia, was established in 1919 and continue to do so today in the predecessors of that Department

DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION AND LAND MANAGEMENT

Foreword

The inspiration for this publication came about following the completion of a similar publication on the history of “the who” were involved in the Civil Service Association of Western Australia.

I was fortunate to be part of the Forests Department and its successors from 1978 to 1996 and participated in significant advances and technological changes in processes associated with Forestry Mapping and information services.

With access to the annual Public Service Lists as published for Government, these documents provided the opportunity to extract the name, position title and classification of the officers employed in the “Drafting Branch”, Forests Department since its establishment in 1926 and then those agencies that succeeded this department. Unfortunately, the Public Service Lists were only published to 1990. With assistance, computer printouts from PIMS to 1993, were available, leaving a gap of 30 years to track down the employment records for those who likewise were fortunate to contribute to the services being provided.

I acknowledge the support provided by the State Records Office and the Battye Library, providing access to digital and/or hardcopies of the Public Service Lists, and likewise to Mark Laming, Peter Hookham and Mil Gill from Department of Biodiversity, Conservation and Attractions (DBCA) who willingly extracted HR data from 1994 to present day (2024), and last but not least, Lisa Wright, Librarian at DBCA who was able to provide access to Internal Telephone Directories that had been retained, plus digital versions of Forests Department Annual Reports and those of its predecessors.

Enjoy the read and maybe the discovery of family and/or friends’ role in Forestry Mapping in Western Australia.

3. When it Began

Woods and Forest Department was initially established on the 1st of January 1896 and continued until 31st December 1918, being transferred to Mines Department on 1st July 1914. 1916 saw the introduction of the first Professional Division employee, being Charles Edward Lane-Poole as Inspector General of Forests. Prior to this appointment Charles Gough Richardson, as Clerk in Charge, was the senior officer of the Department. In 1917, Lane-Poole's title of office was changed to Conservator of Forests.

Following the assenting of the State's Forest Act (1918-1976) on 3rd January 1919 the Western Australia Forests Department was established in 1919 with Charles Edward Lane-Poole being its first Conservator of Forests. Lane-Poole had a small team of 24 including Clerks, Inspecting Rangers, District Rangers, Assistant Rangers, a Timber Inspector and Manager, State Nursery at Hamel.

In 1920 a Draftsman position was established to support a Working Plans officer and their assistant.

In 1921, Philip Stanley, Russell Walton and Reginald Alfred Nicholas were recorded as Draftsman on the Public Service List for the Forests Department, with Stanley being on the highest wage. Draftswoman, Ms. G. Ranford and Draftsman R.A. Walton were shown as Temporary Officers on the Public Service List. This being the beginning of an in-house "drafting" capacity. It is my understanding that prior to this time, drafting services may have been provided by Mines Department and/or Lands and Surveys. It is also noted that prior to Woods and Forests, forest management was under the responsibility of Lands and Surveys.

1922 saw the Conservator of Forests position being vacant, with Stephen Lackey Kessell initially acting in the position and then promoted into the role in 1923.

1922 and 1923 saw no change with the three draftsmen working with the Assistant Working Plans Officer. In 1924, an additional two Draftsmen were listed as Temporary Officers, being W. Holroyd and T.J.R. Wilson, the latter continuing as a Temporary Officer as Assistant to Wood Technologist.

In 1925, Philip Stanley's title was changed Draftsman and Officer in Charge of Topographical Work, and at this stage with only one other Draftsman - Reginald Alfred Nicholas, and a vacant position.

1926 saw the beginning of the Drafting Branch, initially labeled as Forests, Working Plans and Surveys. Both Stanley and Nicholas receiving an extra allowance. William Holroyd filling the vacant Draftsman position. A further 3 Draftsmen and a Draftswoman were listed as Temporary Officers, being Jones, J.H., Nicholas, A.W., Stevenson, G.C., Wood, J. and Smalpage, Ms. E.F.

16. Project Summary

This was an opportunity to document the organisational history of the Forests Department of Western Australia's, "Drafting Branch" prior to reaching its centenary of operations.

Whilst I was fortunate to have access to the Public Service Lists in digital form, my major challenge was sorting and extracting the required data from the very sizeable spreadsheet provided by the People and Culture Branch of DBCA – some 4000+ records spanning the 1994 to 2024 period. With some technical guidance I believe what was extracted would be close to the mark.

I have found this to be an informative process and encourage others to undertake a similar process for organisations that they may have been involved with.

I also acknowledge the source of the images used as Department of Biodiversity, Conservations and Attractions.

In closing, I unreservedly apologise for any errors I may have created, and offer to take on board any feedback provided, with the aim of republishing a latter edition.

Thanks, in anticipation
