FITZGERALD RIVER NATIONAL PARK MANAGEMENT PLAN

Over the next couple of months, the Department of Conservation and Land Management, in close consultation with the community, will be collecting information and comments on the conservation and recreation values of the Fitzgerald River National Park

This information will then provide the basis for a draft plan detailing how the Park should be managed.

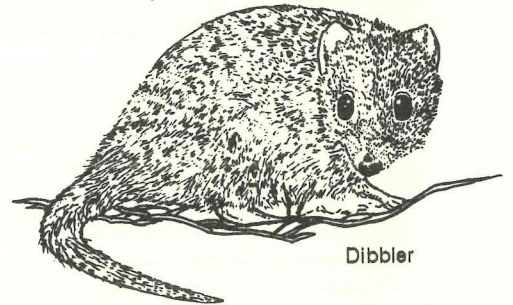

The Department is particularly interested in hearing from you by 31 December if you have any information or comments on:

the values of the Park;
issues of concern to you (plus solutions if possible);
new directions for management to take.

The Department will then carefully consider all the information gathered, and, again with the community closely consulted, prepare the draft plan.

An advisory committee has been appointed by Barry Hodge, Minister for Conservation and Land Management, to help in this consultation process.

When released in mid to late 1988, the plan will be readily available and open for public comment for two months.
