HAVE YOUR SAY

on the Forrestdale Lake and Thomsons Lake Nature Reserves Management Plans 2002

The Department of Conservation and Land Management is, on behalf of the Conservation Commission of Western Australia, in the process of preparing management plans for Forrestdale Lake and Thomsons Lake Nature Reserves. The management plans will detail the purpose of the Nature Reserves and how the Department will manage them into the future.

Have Your Say

Public involvement in how the reserves should be managed is an important part of the planning process and numerous opportunities will be provided for this to occur. You are invited to register your interest in the development of the management plans and by doing so, the Department can notify you of opportunities to contribute. All contributions are carefully considered and taken into account when finalising the plans.

Although the details of the public participation process are yet to be completed it may, for example, include community workshops, public displays and submissions to the draft management plans. By providing your contact details we can inform you of events and opportunities to contribute as they arise, and keep you up to date with our progress.

If you wish to register your interest, or register on behalf of a group or organisation, please complete the form on this brochure and post it to the address shown.
