TAGGED MULLET CAUGHT

Just as the stencils for this issue were going to the duplicator advice was received from Inspector Bowler of the capture at Point Moore, Geraldton, on April 10, 1952, of a mullet (Mugil dobula) which bore tag No. C833. This tag was placed on the gill-cover of the fish at Hough's bank, Collie River (Bunbury) on November 6, 1951, by Mr. L. G. Smith, assisted by Inspector X. W. Stathy and Cadet Inspector M. J. Simpson. When released the fish measured 26.4 cm. (l.c.f.), or about $11\frac{1}{2}$ inches overall. No details, other than the fact that it weighed exactly 1 lb., are available as to size when recaptured. During the 156 days of its freedom the fish travelled approximately 320 miles.
