Free entry to national parks over the WA Day long weekend

Visitors to Western Australia's national parks will enjoy free entry to 30 popular parks over the WA Day long weekend from 31 May to 2 June.

Environment Minister Albert Jacob announced that fees would be waived to attract families to WA's spectacular parks and encourage them to use the long weekend to explore and enjoy nature.

“Under the $21.05 million Parks for People initiative, the State Government has committed to providing families and tourists with more affordable, high-quality camping holiday options. Over the next four years, we are investing in 450 new camping and caravan sites in 16 parks, along with improved visitor facilities, roads and lookouts.”

To find out more about WA’s parks and explore the places you can camp, visit parkstay.dpaw.wa.gov.au.

Parks for People* photo competition

To celebrate WA’s national and marine parks, The Sunday Times and PerthNow are running a Parks for People photo competition.

Readers are invited to share their favourite picture of a WA national or marine park for a chance to win one of two holiday escapes to one of the State's best national parks each week.

To enter, send your pictures to readerpics@perthnow.com.au with a subject line “Parks for People” and include your name, address and contact number in the email. Be quick, the competition closes on Sunday, 1 June 2014 at 12 noon.

Terms and conditions are available at perthnow.com.au

Special offer at Wharncliffe Mill

If you are looking for an affordable nature-based experience near Margaret River, try camping at Wharncliffe Mill in Bramley National Park.

Subscribers to Touring Western Australia can take advantage of a 20 per cent discount on stays of two or more nights until 24 December 2014 (excluding long weekends).

Use the promo code DPAW20 when booking online.

Go 'glamping'!

Want to go camping but don't have any camping gear? Go glamping with WA Wilderness Glamping operated by Pemberton Discovery Tours.

This is camping with a difference. WA Wilderness Glamping Experience will set up your campsite including all cooking gear and bedding in Warren National Park or at Big Brook Arboretum, just 6km from Pemberton. Touring WA subscribers will receive a 25 per cent discount on bookings.

Simply email info@pembertondiscoverytours.com.au and mention Touring WA in the subject line.
