February 2014 – special update!

We are pleased to announce the Department of Parks and Wildlife's Online Shop shop.dpaw.wa.gov.au has been upgraded, with the new and improved site 'live' since 17 February.

The redesigned shop site is easier to use with streamlined purchasing and increased security. Social media connectivity allows users to register using existing social media accounts such as Facebook and Google.

National Park passes, LANDSCOPE magazine subscriptions and WA Naturally publications, including recreation guides, Bush Books, children's books and a range of beautiful and informative books as well as Bibbulmun Track and Munda Biddi Trail maps, are available online.

We encourage you to take a look at our upgraded online shop site and recommend it to family and friends.

If you've previously had an online shop account, please login and check your details are correct, or simply register a new account. For any login or technical issues, please contact webcontent@dpaw.wa.gov.au

Watch this space...

In the coming weeks we will be releasing the first issue of the new-look LANDSCOPE: WA's parks, wildlife and conservation magazine.

With a contemporary new design, stunning photographs and fascinating content, LANDSCOPE is sure to appeal to everyone with an interest in Western Australia. It features wonderful stories of adventure and travel, discoveries and new knowledge; articles about native plant and animal conservation, special natural places, recreation and partnerships.

In addition, our first e-book will soon be available online. Snakes of Western Australia is our top-selling Bush Book and will soon be downloadable from the Apple iBooks store on iPads and iPhones. It will be available for other popular smartphones and tablets in the near future.

We hope you check out our new upgraded shop site and look forward to getting your feedback.
