

July 2014

Welcome to the Department of Parks and Wildlife's WA Naturally publications newsletter.

The team at WA Naturally is very excited to announce the release of a new range of illustrated and photographic prints capturing some of WA's incredible natural spaces, plants and animals.

These illustrations and prints would normally only be seen in WA Naturally publications, including LANDSCOPE magazine, which is now in its 29th year.

Be one of the first to check out this wonderful 'first collection' range of prints including a special limited edition print of the whale shark, the State's official marine animal emblem. The original painting by artist Gooitzen van der Meer hangs in the office of the Premier of Western Australia!

The Western Australia 2015 Calendar is also now available! It features 13 stunning images showcasing WA's beautiful natural wonders. The calendar makes for a wonderful, inexpensive gift for family and friends, and a great addition to your own office or home.

The Snakes of Western Australia eBush Book is now available to download on Kindle and Android devices as well as iPads or iPhones.

The winter issue of LANDSCOPE, WA's parks, wildlife and conservation magazine is also out now and available from good newsagents or by subscribing online.

WA Naturally prints

WA Naturally is extremely excited to present a wonderful 'first collection' of 33 original photographic and illustrated prints of some of Western Australia's amazing parks, plants and animals. This stunning collection showcases the artistic talents of two Parks and Wildlife senior graphic designers, Peter Nicholas and Gooitzen van der Meer.

Read the artists' profiles and check out the initial range of prints available from our online shop.

These quality prints are produced on archival, watercolour paper (illustrations) and 260gsm gloss/satin photographic paper (photographs).

We hope this collection will inspire and encourage you to appreciate WA's incredible natural environment.

We would love your feedback on our initial range of prints and suggestions of other prints you would like to see.

Featuring 13 stunning images including the magnificent Horizontal Falls in the Kimberley's far north and Two Peoples Bay Nature Reserve in the State's rugged south coast.

All images are taken by professional photographers with school, public and important dates for the environment included as well as room to include your own special dates and event information.

The Western Australia 2015 Calendar is available from newsagents, visitor centres, Department of Parks and Wildlife offices and the online shop. RRP $16.95

LANDSCOPE: WA's parks, wildlife and conservation magazine

Inside the winter issue of LANDSCOPE:

- Protecting the Kimberley's unique flora – uncovering the secrets of a wild treasure.
- Kayaking along Ningaloo Coast – a new way to explore above and below the water.
- Freeing the mighty – a whale rescue story.
- Rediscovering Fitzgerald River National Park – one of the largest and most significant national parks in Australia for its unique plants and animals.
- Tackling toads – WA is strengthening its arsenal to reduce the risk of 'hitchhiker' cane toads.

Have you got a fantastic nature photograph you would like to see published in LANDSCOPE? Send it along with a 100-word description of where you took the shot, to landscape@dpaw.wa.gov.au.

LANDSCOPE subscriptions for one year (4 issues) cost $30 (within Australia), and include a 15 per cent discount offer on all WA Naturally products.

Gift and Goldstar subscriptions are also available.

Single issues available at newsagencies RRP $7.95.
