Dear Tony

Enclosed are the photos of the ? Pebble-mound mouse home at Wolfe Creek Crater Reserve

Lindsay Brown first drew our attention to it.

It is located approximately just off the road about 12 metres south of the Y intersection to the day use car park, on the northern side.

I also mentioned that a visitor had reported seeing a billy.

That location (as best I could figure) is along the southern boundary fence heading west co-ordinates  $19^{\circ}10'52''S$   $127^{\circ}47'43E$ .

The three photos of the (mouse) hole were taken 1 week apart to see if there had been any recent activity - I can't pick any.

Hope these are of interest

Regards

Gina Gregory
